PARK CITY TRAGEDY.

Harry Nugent, of Salt Lake, Fatally Shot

BY MINER PETE CLARK.

SHOOTING OCCURRED IN A GAMBLING HOUSE AT THE PARK.

Clark Played Faro, Lost $600 and Shot the Proprietor Because He Wouldn't Return the Money—Nugent Died at 11:15 Last Night—Clark, Who Was Slightly Wounded, is Under Arrest.

A tragedy, of which Harry Nugent, a well known gambler, was the victim, occurred yesterday morning at Park City.

Nugent, associated with his brother-in-law, J. G. Williams, known among his intimates as "Bony" Williams, has for several months been running a gambling house in the rear of Riley & Towey's saloon at Park City. Some time during the night Pete Clark, a miner employed at the mine, entered the gambling parlor with something like $600 in his pocket.

He engaged in a game of faro, at which Nugent was the dealer. Clark played for hours with varying luck, sometimes getting a few hundred ahead of the game and at others considerably behind. A streak of persistence had luck struck him and soon after sunrise he had "blown in" his last sou.

His left hand, which was covered by his face, and going to his lodge, armed himself with a six-shooter and returned to the faro den at about 5 o'clock, determined to get back his money. Nugent was still dealing the game, but at the table, where a few patrons still persisted in the seductive game.

Clark approached and presenting his revolver, cocked and primed, demanded of Nugent the return of the money he had lost. Nugent, in the situation at a glance, and taking apparently with the intention of handling over the dice, Clark meanwhile covering him with the revolver. Instead, however, of putting out the dice, he drew from the drawer a pistol. Clark at once saw the move and opened fire, shooting three or four times in rapid succession. Nugent returned the fire, but fell back mortally wounded.

He had received two shots from Clark's pistol, one taking effect in the shoulder and the other bullet entering the arm, but not of a serious nature. Medical assistance was at once called to Nugent, but it was found the wound in the groin was almost certainly fatal. His dispositions were at once taken, as it was feared he would not live more than an hour or two.

Clark, after the shooting, ran out of the saloon, he drew from his pocket a pistol, and he was seen running down the street. He was wounded in the leg, and it is said not to be serious. He was at once put under arrest and will have to face the charge of murder in the first degree.

Nugent was respectfully connected, and although following the business of a gambler, belonged to the better class of that element in the city. He recently has been operating at Park City. He lived on Brigham street, was a young man and leaves a young wife, who is almost distracted at the fate which overtook her husband.

The Hack Fighters.

T. Josh Butler and Bob Rooker, who were indulging in a free-for-all fight in a hack containing also three women of the town, were fined $10 each. It developed that the two men, both old friends and allowed an enameled sign to get them into trouble.

John Osborn vs. Officer Shannon. Officer Shannon was sent to Fifth East and Sixth South yesterday morning to quell a lot of hoodlum boys who were, and have been for several days, terrorizing the neighborhood. When he got there young John Osborn, an old hand at the game, was found scrapping among his comrades, and he abused the officer most shamefully, offering to whip him if he would take off his gun, and incidentally calling him all the vile names in the command.

In attempting to place him under arrest Osborn fought like a wild cat, and was only subdued after having the clothes torn from his body and being thrown down on the pavement. In the police court Osborn pleaded not guilty and will be tried this morning at 10 o'clock.

In a Minor Key.

Harry Wilson, charged with committing a nuisance by throwing a watermelon rind on the pavement, was discharged.

Fred Brown and George C. Barr, charged with trespassing in a box car, were discharged.

Joseph Carr stole a ride, and was dismissed.

Prize Fighter Gordon Collins said he "swiped Billy Woods in the kisser" because Billy Woods was afraid to fight him. Collins was afraid to look at him as though it had been said by a collision with a freight train. Judge Sells fined him $20. Woods was discharged.

CUT OUT PARLEY'S.

ACTION OF THE WATER DEPARTMENT ON ACCOUNT OF STORM.

Health Commissioner Dalby Going East—Meeting of the Utah Medical Society—Milk Testing by the Food Inspector—Other City News.

It became necessary yesterday to cut out the water from Parley's canyon on account of the storm which took place there this morning. It was expected that the water would reduce the pressure of the water, but on the contrary. The absence of the sprinkling carts was the reason the pressure was up to 70 pounds at 2 o'clock. The action of the superintendent in preventing kinks from water takers on account of the color of the water. It has been quite lucky thus far and yesterday there was no exception to the rule.

Health Commissioner Dalby leaves this evening for the second annual meeting of the American Academy of Railway Surgeons, which meets in the auditorium at the Hotel Utah on September 25, 26 and 27. Dr. Dalby was asked if he missed anything, and upon entering a box used for a trunk, Mrs. Carson found that a pair of stockings and a pair of shoes belonging to her daughter were gone. Mrs. Yetter then told Mrs. Carson, who is an old lady, to hold

"I am just coming downstairs," replied Miss Dole.

"What have you been doing up there?" she asked, and what do you want?" was asked.

"Oh, I was just looking around, and I wanted something to eat," replied the girl.

Suspecting that something was wrong, Mrs. Yetter grabbed the girl and marched her back upstairs and through the connecting door into the other side of the house, where Mrs. Carson lived. Mrs. Carson was asked if she missed anything, and upon entering a box used for a trunk, Mrs. Carson found that a pair of stockings and a pair of shoes belonging to her daughter were gone. Mrs. Yetter then told Mrs. Carson, who is an old lady, to hold

The meeting of the joint committee will be held today, at which the bill of Farewell & Co. will come up, and it is possible some action looking towards its payment may be taken.

WORK OF THE COURTS.

No More Indictments Reported by the Grand Jury Yet.

JOE CHAPMAN RELEASED.

PURGES HIMSELF OF CONTEMPT BY PAYING UP.

Law and Motion Case Which Will Come Up on Peremptory Call Today—Short Orders Made by Judge Merritt—in Commissioners' Courts—Court Notes.

The grand jury, it was reported, were engaged all day in investigating the bribery charges against ex-county officials.

Mr. Weary, W. S. McCornick, Chas. Dupont, Bookkeeper Anderson and others were in attendance in the capacity of witnesses.

Mr. McCornick entered the inquisitorial chamber weighted down with a load of books and remained in the room quite a while. The grand jury remained in session till late in the afternoon, but no indictments were returned. The fact that the court adjourned at 2:30 a few days in which the grand jury to report, but that body will probably be heard from this morning.

CHAPMAN RELEASED.

Pays Up the Alimony and Purges Himself of Contempt.

Joseph Chapman, who was committed to the penitentiary on Wednesday for contempt of court for having failed to re-deposit in the bank $2100 drawn therefrom contrary to an order of the court, was yesterday released in whole, and a satisfactory manner to Mrs. Chapman. When the decree of divorce was granted he was ordered to transfer the house and furniture to Mrs. Chapman, to pay her $1,000 alimony, and to pay her attorney's fees and $25 suit money. He paid the costs and attorney's fees and transferred the property, and as regards the $1,000 alimony, that was compromised.

A Neighborhood Row.

Mrs. Mary Croft had a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Sommer on a charge of disturbing the peace of the city. She was charged with calling them vile and abusive names and making loud and boisterous noises. The case was a second edition to the one which occupied Commissioner Greenman's time for a while, and the plaintiff and defendant, the defendant, the parties reside on South Fifth West street, and appear to have been indulging in a general war of words for quite a while.

The case before Commissioner Sommer ended in the same way as that before Commissioner Greenman, by a dismissal and a severe reprimand to both the interested parties.

Short Orders.

Ida E. Weaver vs. W. L. Pickard, et al., thirty days allowed in which to amend complaint.

Barnes vs. Saville, et al.; demurrer withdrawn and twenty days to answer.

John Baer vs. W. H. McClure, et al.; judgment and foreclosure for the plaintiff.

Marion M. Whiteside vs. George W. Green, et al.; hearing on motion to set aside temporary injunction set for September 25.

W. T. Talbot vs. F. E. McGurran; motion to strike out part of complaint continued for the term.

PEREMPTORY CALL.

Law and Motion Cases to Be Disposed of Today.

The law and motion calendar is now completed with the exception of the following cases, and they will be taken up on peremptory call this morning and disposed of in their order whether the attorneys are present or not.

Court Notes.

A. H. Raleigh is suing Andrew J. Stewart to recover $250 on a promissory note by a mortgage.

Charles Eldene was arraigned before United States Commissioner Sommer on the charge of assault and battery, alleged to have been committed on Hogan Hansen. He pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for today.

Webster Happy, cousin and old schoolmate of Attorney P. L. Williams, is spending a few days in this city as the guest of Mr. Williams. Mr. Happy is quite a prominent lawyer at Washington, D. C., and occupies a position in the law section of the department of the interior.

How is it C. S. Martin is such a favorite of the ladies? Because he sends them clean coal. Office under McCornick's bank.

FUN AND FACTS.

Professor Alexander's lecture on "Love, Courtship and Marriage" drew a large audience of ladies to the hall last night. The lecture might briefly be described as an hour and a half of sound common sense and a good deal of good laugh had their full effect. The professor dealt with the subject in a simple and to the point manner. He spoke of the importance of the marriage relation in all its bearings, and how to make the most of it. He spoke of the importance of the marriage relation in all its bearings, and how to make the most of it. He spoke of the importance of the marriage relation in all its bearings, and how to make the most of it.

A TRIBUNE LIE.

IT IS SHOWN UP BY JUDGE McNALLY.

The Hayken Case Cannot Divert Attention From the Actions of the Present Selection.

"I wish," said Judge McNally yesterday, "that you would say in The Herald, that I never made any inquiry of any reporter on The Herald why he was 'ridiculing' the county court, and that no reporter ever informed me that 'Manager Dick Young ordered him to roast the selection.'"

I am going to give you a little more information and wish them to cease. I have regarded the work done by The Herald in showing up the actions of the county court as a good one. I have assisted in exposing methods which have been used to get a man elected to a stand for the people against extravagant expenditures. If the selection and the attorney think this Hayken case is going to divert attention from their own acts, they are very much mistaken. The condition of the old accounts merits attention no more than that of the affairs of the new. Both should be investigated."

Hayken's Departure.

In an effort to manufacture a sensational article regarding the departure of Martin Hayken, the Tribune resorted to the usual tactics employed by it in getting its dime novel serials. Hayken was accompanied to the depot by the Tribune's Western by Julius Gauer, took berth No. 2 in the sleeper and was on the train which was telegraphed to by Chief Pratt.

The Tribune was doubtless cognizant of the departure of Hayken, as one of its reporters was at the hotel when he shook hands all around and left for the depot.

"ROSEDALE."

Society Night at the Grand—"Tribune" is Coming.

Last night was society evening at the Grand opera house, and many of its old-time friends took the opportunity of seeing "Rosedale." The company has now more thoroughly assimilated and play together with perfect harmony. The plot is closely followed by their audiences, who take unaffected interest in the clever little boy actor, Master Dart, who, by the way, is the son of Walter Edwards, who takes the part of Mike McKenna. The fine scene of the gypsy eddy, painted specially for this occasion by Mr. J. S. Anderson, is applauded heartily every night.

"Tribune" Next.

A. M. Palmer's "Tribune" company intend stopping over here on their way to San Francisco, and open at the Salt Lake theatre Friday and Saturday evenings, Sept. 27-28. This will fill up the gap in theatrical bookings made vacant by the altered engagements of John Drew and Maud Adams, and will be anticipated with pleasure by the admirers of "Tribune" or, in other words, by the great majority of our citizens.

POLICE POINTERS.

Yesterday afternoon the police department was informed that the body of a male infant had been found at the headgate of the sewer pumping station and the same was removed to the coroner's office. The body is that of about a four-months' fetus, which came into the world the authorities know not how.

E. A. Shear was arrested in his room at the Metropolitan hotel last evening by Officer Larson, who saw him throwing slops out of a third-floor window on to the pavement below. Shear, who was drunk, denied that it was he who committed the act, but as he admitted he was the only person in the room at the time, he was locked up in default of $10 bail. It was by the sheers accident that several pedestrians passing were not the victims of Shear's drunken act.

Heber Johnson and A. Household were thrown in the drunk house. The police patrol was called to 221 J street last night to subdue a crowd of hoodlums who sought to annoy a wedding party at that place. The jail is being renovated and calmed.

A bundle of paper police buckets await an owner at police headquarters. Detective Adam Paul is growing a new moustache. The little girl, Ruby Hutchins, will be released from jail today.

FAILED TO KILL FAILES.

Abraham Bernstein Argued For Flourishing a Revolver.

Abraham Bernstein and Morris Failes built a house conjointly on Second North between Seventh and Eighth West streets, and on the deal Failes gave Bernstein his note for $200. Bernstein is a Russian Jew, about 37 years old, and yesterday he took a six-shooter and went after Failes to get money or blood.

When Failes saw Bernstein coming after him with a gun he started and ran, and Bernstein gave chase, yelling like a
